

Miles B. Livingston

Biography

Interests:

Bonds, Investments, Capital Markets

Education:

Ph.D., 1972; M.B.A., New York University, 1968; B.A., Columbia University, 1966.

Professor Livingston has taught at the University of Florida since 1982. He has also taught at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Oregon, Concordia University in Montréal, York University in Toronto, the College of William and Mary, and Erasmus University in the Netherlands. At the University of Florida, he teaches an undergraduate class (Debt and Money Markets), a Master of Accounting class (Fixed Income Security Valuation), and a Executive MBA class (Money and Capital Markets). His research interests include fixed income securities, mutual funds, and diversification. Professor Livingston is the author of two textbooks: Money and Capital Markets (3 editions) and Bonds and Bond Derivatives (2 editions), which has been translated into Chinese.